

About the Competition

The Sixteenth Annual Chief Judge Conrad B. Duberstein National Bankruptcy Memorial Moot Court Competition is the nation's only moot court competition devoted entirely to bankruptcy. Jointly sponsored by St. John's University School of Law and the American Bankruptcy Institute (ABI), the competition is named to honor the memory of St. John's alumnus and former ABI Director Chief Judge Conrad B. Duberstein.

ABI is the nation's largest multi-disciplinary membership organization devoted to research and education on insolvency issues. St. John's is a leader in bankruptcy education and offers the only LL.M. in bankruptcy law.

The competition is designed to promote and recognize the finest oral and written advocacy on a significant problem in bankruptcy practice. Nearly 50 law school teams entered the 2007 competition.

Each team argues in at least two preliminary rounds on alternating sides. Sixteen teams will progress to the octo-final round. Sides in the preliminary and later rounds are chosen randomly.

Preliminary rounds and briefs will be judged by prominent bankruptcy practitioners and judges. The final round will be judged by leading members of the federal judiciary.

The event concludes with a gala awards banquet at scenic Pier 60, Chelsea Piers in Manhattan, which will be attended by most of the leading New York bankruptcy judges and practitioners.

Any ABA-accredited law school may enter one or two teams, comprised of two or three students each. It is not required or even expected that students have taken a course in bankruptcy or creditors' rights. To be part of this unique national competition, complete the adjacent application and return it to St. John's University School of Law.
